1. To omit the following words from Clause 14:—"It shall be lawful for the Council, by a resolution to that effect, at such times as they shall think fit, to confer any share so ceded or forfeited, as aforesaid, on any Student of the College who may have taken a Degree with Honours in the University of London;" and to insert in their place the subjoined words:—"The Council shall in every alternate year take into consideration the propriety of conferring any share or shares so ceded or forfeited, as aforesaid, on any Student or Students of the College who may have passed with Honours at the final examination for a Degree in the University of London; and it shall be lawful for the Council, by a resolution to that effect, to confer any such share or shares accordingly; but not more than six shares shall be so conferred in any one year."

2. To omit the present Clause 15, namely:—"Not more than one-third of the shares which may be so conferred in any one year shall be conferred on Graduates in Medicine, nor more than two-thirds among the Graduates in Arts and Law;" and to substitute for it the following:—"Not more than three of the shares which may be so conferred in any one year shall be conferred on Graduates in Arts and Law, nor more than three on Graduates in Medicine and Science; and no such share shall be conferred on a Graduate more than ten years after he shall have taken his Bachelor's Degree."

Professor Williamson, F.R.S., moved as an amendment:—That the Council be requested to consider the Bye-Laws relating to the appointment of Fellows in connection with the present relations of this College with the University of London.

R. H. Hutton, Esq., M.A., seconded the amendment.

After discussion, the original motion and the amendment were, by leave, withdrawn, on the understanding that the attention of the Council would be directed to the whole subject of the disposal of ceded and forfeited shares before the next Annual Meeting.

REPORT.

I. SESSION 1866–67.

PUPILS AND FEES.

The entire number of Pupils during this Session was 1042, an increase of 147 on the numbers of the preceding Session. Of this number, 591 were Students in the College, and 451 Pupils in the School. Of the Students, 249 belonged to the Faculty of Medicine, 102 being new Students: in the Faculty of Arts and Laws there were 340 Students, of whom 83 attended the Evening Classes; in this Faculty there were 233 new Students. The highest number of Boys in the School in any one Term was 367.

The gross amount of Fees received (exclusive of those for Clinical Instruction) was £14,995 17*s.*, being £1047 4*s.* 6*d.* more than the sum received in Session 1865–66. This sum consists of the following items:—Fees for attendance on Classes of the Faculty of Medicine, £4068 7*s.*; Fees for attendance on Classes in the Faculty of Arts and Laws, £3613 11*s.* 6*d.*, including £328 0*s.* 6*d.* received on account of the Evening Classes; School Fees, £7313 18*s.* 6*d.* The amount paid to Professors, Teachers, and Masters was £10,824 17*s.* 2*d.*, leaving £4190 19*s.* 10*d.* for the College portion, which was thus greater by £422 16*s.* 11*d.* than it was in the preceding Session. In addition to the amount paid for attendance in Classes of the Faculty of Medicine in the College, the sum of £1588 8*s.* (being an increase of £65 on the previous year) was received for Clinical Instruction at the Hospital, and, as usual, was surrendered by the Medical Officers for the benefit of the Charity.

SCHOOL.

The following extracts from the Report of the School Committee, presented to the Council on December 8th, will give the necessary information respecting the state of the School.

"It might have been reasonably apprehended that the pecuniary pressure prevalent during the past year would have tended to diminish the numbers in the School; the Committee are happy, however, to observe that this has not happened to any sensible degree..... The average attendance of Pupils during the three terms of the Session was 358, as against an average of 361 during the three terms of the preceding Session, when the total number was near the maximum that the School has ever attained."

"The testimony borne by the various masters to the discipline of the School during the past Session continues to be satisfactory, while the effective teaching and the diligence of the Pupils in their respective classes appear to have been fully equal to the experience of former years. Creditable mention is also made both of the number of prizes deserved and gained in the School, and of the successes obtained by Pupils out of the School, both at the College and at the University of London."

"It was in the last Session that Mr. Horton first began the discharge of the duties of Vice-Master, as successor to Mr. Case, whose services the College had the misfortune to lose at the close of the Session 1865–66. The Committee have been much gratified in reading the Report of the Head Master, attesting Mr. Horton's full efficiency, courtesy, and zeal in this important post."

"While dwelling, with much satisfaction, on the condition of the School generally, the Committee regret that they cannot speak in the same terms of the progress of the younger School, recently established for beginners. This latter School does not increase, but rather seems to fall off in numbers, without any apparent short-coming or deficiency of management to account for the fact. The Committee feel deeply the importance of attracting Boys to the School at an early age; and they hear every year in the Reports well-grounded complaints from the Masters of the late age at which pupils first enter. It may be hoped that when the new School buildings, of which now happily the prospect seems near and certain, shall have been erected and shall come into use, the enlarged accommodation thus afforded may turn to the advantage of the School for beginners as well as of other parts of the Course, and that the Pupils may be induced to enter at an age early enough to exhibit the full teaching power of Masters carefully chosen, with a comprehensive scheme of study."

Some inconveniences having been experienced from the varying and unequal lengths of the two Terms after Christmas, owing to the division between them being regulated by the date of Easter in each year, the Council has recently determined, with the concurrence of the Head Master, to remedy the evils referred to, by adopting fixed dates for the close of the Lent Term and the commencement of the Summer Term, the Easter holidays, however, remaining as at present. This arrangement will come into operation next Session. A similar system having been adopted this Session in the Faculty of Arts and Laws, and having previously existed in the Faculty of Medicine, and in reference to the Evening Classes, its adoption in the School will make the division of the academical year uniform in every department of the College.

The former Pupils of the School who in the College Examinations obtained Prizes and Certificates of Honour were the following:—Mr. W. H. Robson obtained the Andrews Prize for Mathematics, the Jews' Commemoration Scholarship, the First Prize in the Lower Senior Mathematical Class, and the Second Prize in Mathematical Physics: Mr. Arthur Hibble Higgs gained two Andrews Scholarships, one for Classics, the other for Mathematics, the First Prize in the Higher Senior Latin Class, the Prize in the Extra Greek Class, and the First Prize in Physical Mathematics: to Mr. W. A. Ainsworth were awarded the Second Junior Latin Prize, and the Junior Greek: Mr. H. Shaen Solly obtained the Prize in the Senior English Class: Mr. A. D. Benjamin gained the Second German and the Hebrew Prizes: Mr. James C. Kaufmann won the Prize for Comparative Grammar: the Second Prize for Geology, and the First for Mineralogy were carried off by Mr. A. Muirhead. Several of the old Pupils of the School distinguished themselves in the Examinations of the Universities of Cambridge and London, and most of these will be mentioned in a subsequent part of this Report.

GENERAL FINANCES.

The apparent excess of Expenditure for the Session is £46 13*s.* 6*d.*; but as Six Months' Parochial Taxes due in Session 1685-66, amounting to £156 5*s.*, were not paid until last Session, that sum must be deducted from the Expenditure in order to ascertain the real financial results of the year's operations; and this correction being made, there remains a surplus of receipts of about £110. This would have been considerably greater had it not been necessary to incur an unusually large expense for "House repairs," amounting to £793 15*s.* 2*d.*, whereas in the previous Session this charge was only £300 19*s.* 6*d.*

It is satisfactory to the Council thus to be able to report that, during the last two or three years, the income has been sufficient to meet the entire expenses of the Establishment, including very considerable improvements in the buildings and additions to the apparatus, without trenching at all on the invested Capital of the College.

II. THE YEAR FROM FEBRUARY 1867 TO FEBRUARY 1868.

COLLEGE PRIZES AND DISTINCTIONS.

The Joseph Hume Scholarship in Jurisprudence was awarded to Mr. C. M. Warmington of London.

For the Medical Entrance Exhibitions, the competition was unusually severe and close; the result was that two Exhibitions of £25 each were awarded to Mr. Edward B. Aveling and Mr. Alfred W. Harding; and two of £10 each to Mr. Walter B. Cornelius and Mr. Richard Mark Dawes.

PROFESSORSHIPS.

The retirement of Professor De Morgan from the Chair of Mathematics, which he had filled for 34 years with so much distinction to himself and so greatly to the advantage and credit of the College, and the appointment of Dr. Hirst, the Professor of Mathematical Physics, as his successor, have led to several important changes in the arrangements for giving instruction in Mathematics and Physics. These changes were not adopted without careful consideration by the Council, who felt so deeply the importance of the subject, that they appointed a Special Committee to investigate it.* The recommendations of this Committee, which had several interviews with Professors Hirst and Foster, were adopted by the Council, and form the basis of the existing arrangements. The principal points that need be mentioned are the following:—Professor Hirst has charge of the Class of pure Mathematics, and also of the higher Class of Mathematical Physics, and the title of Professor of pure and applied Mathematics was therefore conferred upon him. He was further authorized to appoint an Assistant to direct Exercise Classes under his own supervision, while he himself gives the theoretical instruction in the Lecture Classes. Professor Foster undertook to combine with his course of Lectures on Experimental Physics to the Senior Class those portions of Mathematical Physics which were previously taught by Professor Hirst in his Junior Class. As a consequence of this, it was deemed proper that Mr. Foster's title should be Professor of Physics.

The only other new Professorial appointment in the Faculty of Arts has been that of Mr. Fleeming Jenkin, F.R.S., as Professor of Civil

* The changes in question were in the first instance suggested by the Senate in its Report to the Council on the applications of Candidates for the Chair of Mathematics

Engineering in succession to Professor Pole. The Council having reason to believe that it was essential to the success of the Class of Civil Engineering that the Lectures should be delivered in the Evening, made this a condition of the appointment of Professor Jenkin; and they are happy to report that that gentleman has a larger Class than had been formed for several previous years. Professor Jenkin has recently, with the sanction of the Council, formed a Class for instruction in Mechanical Draughting, the Teacher of which is under his superintendence.

In the Faculty of Medicine the following changes have taken place:—

Professor Jenner has found it necessary, through the increasing pressure of his professional engagements, to resign the Professorship of the Principles and Practice of Medicine, which he had held with high distinction since 1862, but he retains his offices of Senior Physician to the Hospital and Professor of Clinical Medicine. Dr. J. Russell Reynolds was appointed to succeed him; and in consequence vacated the Holme Professorship of Clinical Medicine. This appointment was conferred upon Dr. Wilson Fox, who thereupon resigned the Chair of Pathological Anatomy.

This vacancy has been filled up by the appointment of Dr. H. Charlton Bastian, who previously held a similar Professorship at St. Mary's Hospital. Dr. Bastian received his Medical Education in the College, and in 1866 gained the Degree of M.D. in the University of London. The Hospital Staff has been strengthened by the appointment of Dr. Bastian as Assistant Physician.

In the Report presented a year ago, reference was made to the ill health of Professor Cairnes, which rendered it impossible for him to complete his course of Lectures last Session, during the latter part of which the Class of Political Economy was kindly taken by Professor Waley. The Council regret to say that the state of Professor Cairnes's health has continued to be such, that they found it necessary to appoint Mr. T. E. Cliffe Leslie, Professor of Political Economy in Queen's College, Belfast, as his substitute during the present Session. On the other hand, it is gratifying to the Council to report that Professor Harley, whose health during the last two years has compelled him to discontinue all active professional employment, and whose Class in the College has consequently been taught by Professor Ringer, has made such progress towards perfect recovery that he expects to be able at the commencement of the Summer Term, to resume his Lectures on Medical Jurisprudence.

The Council cannot refrain from referring, with much satisfaction, to the Honours bestowed by the Crown, first upon Professor Thompson, and, within the last few days, upon Professor Jenner; the one a most distinguished Surgeon, the other, a Physician who is universally admitted to hold a foremost place in his profession, and both of whom received their Medical Education in University College and Hospital, to which they have, in return, for many years rendered most valuable services—services which the Council earnestly trust the Institution may long continue to enjoy.

RETIREMENT OF MR. ATKINSON.

The increasing infirmities of age have obliged Mr. Atkinson to terminate the connection which had so long existed between him and the Council, by resigning the office of Secretary, which he had held since 1835. On this occasion the Council, at its Session on the 4th of May last, unanimously adopted the following Resolution:—"The Council, in accepting with regret the resignation by Mr. Atkinson of his office of Secretary from the close of the present Session, rendered necessary by his increasing deafness, desire to record their high appreciation of the zeal, intelligence, and unceasing devotion to the interests of the College which have marked his services during a period of 32 years."

Mr. John Robson, who for nearly two years previously had acted as Assistant Secretary, was appointed Mr. Atkinson's successor, and entered upon his new office in July 1867.

DIVISION OF SESSION OF THE FACULTY OF ARTS AND LAWS.

The Senate having for some time had under consideration the question whether it would not be advantageous to divide the Session of the Faculty of Arts and Laws into three Terms of equal length, and to make a corresponding division of the Sessional fees,—a plan which has always existed in the Faculty of Medicine, and has recently been acted upon in reference to the Evening Classes,—sent up to the Council a Report recommending the change in question; and the Council adopted these recommendations, which have been carried out in the arrangements for the current Session. This has involved a return to the former practice of opening the Classes of the Faculty of Arts on the day after the commencement of the Session in the Faculty of Medicine, and some slight alterations in the dates of the Vacations. So far as the experience of a few months enables the Council to judge, they believe that the new arrangements will be found beneficial, and will remove several inconveniences that tended to diminish the usefulness of the College.

EVENING CLASSES.

The re-establishment of these Classes on a larger scale than had ever previously been attempted was mentioned in last year's Report. The experience of the past year justifies the expectation that the experiment will be successful. The number of Tickets issued in Session 1866–67 was 300, and that of Students 92, the French, Greek, Elocution, English, Latin, and Law Classes having been the best attended. Nearly all the Teachers have consented to continue their services during the present Session. This is a proof that the gentlemen most directly interested in the success of the Evening Classes are satisfied with the results already attained; and the Council see no reason to doubt that in proportion as the existence of the Classes and the excellence of the instruction afforded in them become more widely known, they will secure a much larger measure of success. This opinion is confirmed by the increase in the number of Students attending the Evening Classes this Session as compared with the last. At the date of the Report presented in February 1867, the number of Tickets issued was 233, whereas this year it is 267, notwithstanding the fact that special and unavoidable circumstances have this Session materially affected the Law Classes, and caused a considerable falling off in the attendance upon them, only 25 Law Tickets having been issued, while the number last Session was 75.

TUESDAY EVENING LECTURES.

The Council willingly gave their sanction to a proposal made by the Senate that a series of Lectures upon subjects of Art, Science, and Literature, adapted to a general audience, including ladies, should be given in the College during the present Session. The Senate accordingly made the necessary arrangements for this purpose; and the following gentlemen kindly consented to deliver Lectures:—Professor Seeley, Mr. Goldwin Smith, Professor Williamson, Mr. G. E. Street, Sir John Lubbock, and Professor Masson. Three of these Lectures have been already given; and the results of this effort to extend the usefulness of the College are so far very encouraging. The Council trust that the experiment will be successful; and that similar Courses of Lectures will for many years to come be a recognized part of the College work.

The Council have much pleasure in stating that, through the liberality of the Lecturers, the net proceeds received for these Lectures are to be paid over to the College as a contribution to the Building Fund.

BUILDING FUND.

The origin of this Fund and the objects which it is intended to subserve were fully explained in the last Report. Since then the Council have issued a Circular addressed to all the Members of the College, to its former Students, and to other friends of liberal education, in which the necessity for an enlargement of the College Buildings was set forth, the services rendered by the College to the cause of Education were briefly stated, and its consequent claims upon those interested in its welfare for the assistance now required, were enforced. This appeal has been most generously responded to in not a few instances; but the Council regret to state that the sum hitherto placed at their disposal will not enable them to undertake the erection of more than a small portion of the South Wing, as suggested in last year's Report.* The plans for the proposed Building have been prepared by Professor Lewis, after repeated conferences with the Committee of Management, and with the Head and Vice-Masters of the School, the better accommodation of which is the first object intended to be secured by the contemplated outlay; and the Council are satisfied that the execution of these plans will prove of very great advantage, by providing a considerable number of excellent Rooms for various School purposes, and by thus rendering it possible to restore to the exclusive use of College Classes several Rooms now occupied, either wholly or in part, by the Pupils of the School.

It is expected that the Building will soon be commenced, and that the exterior at least of the proposed erection will be completed during the present year. But in order to make it fit for occupation a considerable sum, beyond that hitherto subscribed, will be required; and the Council earnestly hope that the friends of the College will zealously exert themselves on its behalf, and will not only themselves contribute to the Building Fund, but will use their influence to induce others to follow their example †.

DONATIONS TO THE LIBRARIES, MUSEUMS, &c.

The principal donations of Books received during the past year are the following:—One hundred and seven Volumes from the Library of the late Mr. H. Crabb Robinson, presented in compliance with his wishes by his Executors, Mr. Cookson and Mr. Field; the Chronicles of the Picts and Scots, and Part I. of the National Manuscripts of Scotland, from

* Up to February 26th the amount subscribed was £4773.

† Since the date of this Report, a contract has been entered into with Messrs. Trollope for the erection of the building, and they have already commenced operations.

the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury; Parts 1, 2, and 3 of the National Manuscripts of England, presented by the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for War; the concluding part of the late Dr. Boott's work on the Genus Carex, given by his widow, at whose expense the Volume has been published; various Publications, chiefly on Medical subjects, from the Smithsonian Institution and from the Medical Department of the United States Army: other valuable Donations have been received from Professors Parkes, Graily Hewitt, Beesly, De Morgan, Marshall, Wilson Fox, and Key; from Mr. Samuel Sharpe, Sir John Lubbock, Mr. Streatfeild, and Mr. Walton.

In connection with this subject, it may be mentioned that the Council have recently made a change in the Library arrangements, which will, they believe, add greatly to the usefulness of the large collections of books now deposited in the College Libraries. In place of one of the Beadles, they have made an appointment, temporary in the first instance, but which, they trust, will become permanent, of a Librarian, who is to have the general superintendence of the Libraries, and of the attendants in them, to assist students, as far as possible, in their choice of books, to improve the Catalogues, and generally to discharge the duties usually performed by skilled Librarians. The gentleman whom they have selected for this important post is Mr. A. H. Bleeck, formerly a student in the College, who has had considerable experience in the Library of the British Museum and elsewhere.

The Council have recently had the pleasure of accepting, and of placing in the Anatomical Museum, a marble bust of Mr. Richard Quain, F.R.S., Emeritus Professor of Clinical Surgery, whose connection in various capacities with the College and Hospital during the long period of thirty-five years identifies him with the Medical Department of the College, to the reputation and prosperity of which he has largely contributed. For this valuable addition to the College Collection of "Memorials," the Council are indebted to the Subscribers to the Quain Memorial Fund, most of whom were formerly pupils of the eminent Surgeon, their obligations to whom they thus desired to acknowledge.

A small but beautifully finished medallion portrait of Flaxman, executed by himself at the age of seventeen, has been presented to the College by Mrs. Henry Robinson, niece of Mr. H. C. Robinson, to whom the work formerly belonged.

DEATH OF A MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL.

The Council have to lament the decease of one of the youngest and most recently elected of their colleagues—Mr. Ebenezer Charles, from whose intimate acquaintance with the inner life of the College, sound judgment, and high intellectual qualities they had hoped to derive valuable assistance for many years to come. Mr. Charles had received the whole of his education in the College, first as a pupil in the School, and afterwards as a Student in the Faculty of Arts. Both in the School and in the College he distinguished himself by steady industry and great intelligence; in the University of London also he passed with credit the Examinations for Matriculation, and for the Degree of B.A., and subsequently gained the Degree of LL.B., with Honours. In 1864 he was made a Fellow of the College, and two years ago he was elected a Member of the Council. The esteem in which he was held by his fellow Graduates generally was shown at the Meeting of Convocation in May last, when he was placed by a large majority at the head of the Senatorial List; and his consequent appointment by the Crown to the honourable position of a Member of the Senate of the University of London was welcomed by all who were acquainted with his character, as opening up to him a field of usefulness for which he was peculiarly well adapted, and his labours in which could not fail to promote the welfare of the University. Thus his death at the early age of thirty-two has sadly disappointed many hopes; and the friends both of this College and of the University of London will long mourn the loss which they have thereby sustained.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS OF BYE-LAWS.

As the amendments proposed by the Council have been printed in full in the notice convening this Meeting, it will here be sufficient to state that they were suggested in the first instance by a special Committee on Fellowships, which considered the subject most carefully; and the Council, believing that their effect will be beneficial, recommend their adoption.

THE HOSPITAL.

On this subject, the Council have to report as follows:—The total expenditure during the last financial year amounted to £9923 3*s.* 1*d.* Of this sum £412 was for extraordinary expenditure for improvements and new furniture in the Medical Officers' rooms &c. The gross Receipts, including legacies, were £13,401 12*s.* 5*d.*, and were expended as follows:—Investments, £599 12*s.* 6*d.*; debts of previous years cleared off, £5943 14s. 1*d.*; payments on account of the current year, £5947 6*s.* 10*d.* Thus the liabilities of the Hospital on the 31st of October, including the £3000 due to the College, were £7425 16*s.* 3*d.*, which is less by £2180 than they were at the corresponding period of 1866.

At the Annual Dinner last year, on March 27th, when the Treasurer, Sir F. H. Goldsmid, had the kindness to preside, the collection amounted to £1589.

The whole of that portion of the Estate of the late Mr. Yates which he bequeathed to the Hospital, the estimated value of which is about £42,000, has been transferred by his executor, Dr. Hare, to the College as Trustee for the Hospital. The annual income from the present investments of this Fund is about £2500, one-half of which is to be appropriated, in accordance with the direction of Mr. Yates's Will, to the purposes of a Samaritan Fund, "for the relief of Poor Patients." The Commitee of the Hospital have commenced the application of this Fund, by sending Patients to Convalescent Hospitals, by furnishing surgical appliances, and by supplying rations to the families of Patients whose illness reduces those dependent on them to poverty. In these various operations, the Committee is guided by the advice of the Medical Officers, and of the Ladies who superintend the nursing department.

Although the improvement in the financial condition of the Hospital is considerable, yet the circumstances of the Charity have not allowed the Committee to forego recourse to the usual Annual Festival in aid of its Funds.

His Grace the Duke of Cleveland, K.G., kindly acceded to the request of the Committee to preside at a Public Dinner, which took place yesterday, February 25th, at Willis's Rooms, when the amount subscribed was £1674.

The following Legacies were received during the year ending October 1867:—£83 8*s.* 8*d.* paid by Edward Lambert, Esq., executor of the late Mrs. Sophia Lewis, out of monies left by her for charitable purposes; £3600, after deducting duty, bequeathed by the late Mr. Nathaniel Soames; £19 19*s.* by Mr. Henry Crabb Robinson; £450, duty deducted, by Mr. Robert Forest; £25 by Miss Thompson; and £900, duty deducted, by Madame De Bosset. A Donation of £100 for Investment, has been received from John Hibbert Esq., of Braywick Lodge, Maidenhead, being the twelfth which he has given of the same amount for the like purpose.

In the course of the year notice was received of a bequest contained in the will of the late Mr. J. T. Robinson of £15,000 to "the London University Hospital," by which title the Testator no doubt intended to designate University College Hospital; but his representatives, acting under legal advice, declined to pay the Legacy to the Hospital without the authority of the Court of Chancery, into which they paid the amount, and served notice of that step upon the Hospital, and upon every other London Hospital connected with the University of London. The Treasurer of the Hospital petitioned the Court to order the transfer of the bequest to the Hospital, and at the hearing, Vice-Chancellor Wood made the order prayed for. The money paid into Court had been invested in the purchase of £15,830 8*s.* 2*d.* Consols, and this was transferred in the books of the Bank of England into the name of the Treasurer of the Hospital, on his giving an undertaking to pay thereout the whole of the legal expenses, which are estimated at about £300.

By Mr. Robinson's will it is provided that "£10,000 are to be invested in Government funds, or freehold estate, the interest or rents to be appropriated to the purposes of a Samaritan Fund, for the relief of persons discharged from the Hospital unprovided with the means of maintenance, till their perfect recovery, under such regulations and in such proportions as my Executors, in conjunction with the Officers of the Hospital, shall deem efficient to carry out, most effectively, the purposes of my will."

A scheme for administering this fund, proposed by the Hospital Committee, has been submitted for the approval of the Court of Chancery, which has been substituted for the Executors of the Testator, none of whom proved the will.

On Saturday last, February 22nd, University College Hospital was admitted by the Chief Clerk of the Master of the Rolls as one of the Charities which are to share in the bequest of the late Lord Henry Seymour; and although the legal expenses of the proceedings in connection with this matter will probably be very heavy, yet it is hoped that a considerable sum will remain for each of the Institutions, among which the fund will ere long be divided.

The Hospital Committee, being convinced, after a careful consideration of the matter, that the accommodation provided for the Resident Medical Staff, the Ladies who superintend the nursing Department, with their Assistants and the Servants, was not only quite inadequate, but was in some respects scarcely fit, in a sanitary point of view, for their occupation, undertook, with the concurrence of the Council, to add a Storey to the Building. By this enlargement of the Hospital, not only will ample accommodation be provided for the Residents, but several rooms now occupied by the nurses will be set at liberty for the reception of Patients, and one of the grounds of complaint as to the inadequacy of the Hospital to meet the increasing wants of the neighbourhood will be to some extent removed.

The estimated cost of these improvements is £2500, and towards this outlay £1100 has already been contributed, of which sum £500 has been generously contributed by Sir F. H. Goldsmid.

In consequence of a recommendation from the Medical Committee of the Hospital, in which both the Senate and the Hospital Committee fully concurred, the Council have authorized the appointment of a Secretary to the Hospital, with a view especially to the improvement of the finances of the Charity. From a large number of Candidates, Mr. H. J. Kelly, R.N., was selected for the Office, and he entered upon his duties in August last.

The Council earnestly commend the interests of the Hospital to the increased exertions of its friends.

PEEL MEMORIAL FUND.

The income of this Fund in 1867 was expended in making presents of Books &c. to three Institutions, viz.: the Carlisle Working Mens' Reading Room, the Holbeck Mechanics' Institute, and the Newport (Mon.) Athenæum and Mechanics' Institute.

The Committee was able, through the liberality of Mr. Romilly, to add to each of the sets of Books purchased out of this Fund two copies of his Translation of De la Rive's Reminiscences of Count Cavour, and two copies of Mrs. Marcet's Conversations on Political Economy; and also to make a similar present to every one of the Institutions which had in former years received gifts of books from the Peel Memorial Fund. The Committee have received from all the Institutions in question grateful acknowledgments for the Books which Mr. Romilly's kindness enabled them to distribute.

The balance of the Dividends of the Fund now in hand is £48 6*s.* 8*d.*, which will be expended in the usual way in the course of the ensuing Spring.

III. THE CURRENT SESSION.

The entries up to this day are :—In the Faculty of Medicine 204, of whom 57 are new Students ; in the Faculty of Arts and Laws 305, including 94 to the Evening Classes, of whom 188 are new Students ; in the School 370, of whom 50 are new Pupils this Term. As compared with the entries up to the corresponding date last year, these returns show an increase of 5 in the Medical Faculty, of 10 in the Faculty of Arts and Laws, and of 9 in the School. The number of new Students in the Faculty of Medicine is less by seven than at this time last year; but there has been a marked decrease in the entries of new Medical Students during the current Session at the London Schools generally. In the Faculty of Arts also there is a decline of 8 in the new entries; but this is accounted for by the fact that last Session nearly all the entries (77 in number) to the Evening Classes were those of new Students, many of whom are in attendance this Session also, and are therefore classed as former Students.
